Subject: Matthew 5am Update

Good Morning,

Matthew is currently a category 3 storm moving over the Bahamas. Confidence has increased that SE Georgia will experience a close encounter with Matthew. Here is the current information:

- Maximum sustained winds are 125mph and it has strengthened overnight
- Moving northwest at 12mph
- The track as you see below is still expected to take Matthew very close to Florida if not into Florida starting early Friday
- Matthew will then travel up the coast of Florida move slightly offshore coming very close to Brunswick.

- The timing for us. We should feel the effects of TS winds Friday evening into Saturday Morning.
- We now have at least a 50% chance of TS winds....I'd bank on that. Meaning at least 34mph with higher gusts
- Expect 4-6 inches of rain.
- Expect wide spread power outages, some trees down, and localized flooding.
